

School/District Leader Training Modules

The Coalition for Compassionate Schools is excited to offer its second cohort of our hybrid trauma-informed training experience.

Overview

The virtual leader professional learning community is designed to support school-based leadership (principals, assistant principals) as well as network- and district-based roles to build their trauma-informed practices strategies and toolkit.

By the end of the program, you will be able to:

- Describe the impact of trauma on students' brain development, how to support your teachers in making changes to their practices and classroom environment to support brain-friendly learning, and how to support your mid-level leaders who are building trauma-informed systems.
- Understand your role in building trauma-informed practices through organizational change and leadership with a trauma-informed lens.
- Evaluate the need for school partnerships to sustain trauma-informed practices and consider the role of relationships and funding in maintaining partnerships with community members and organizations.
- Execute the exploration phase of implementing trauma-informed practice to drive revision of organizational strategic plans that move schools towards installation and implementation of trauma-informed practices.
- Effectively collaborate with school-based staff and mid-level leaders to support pilot activities around trauma-informed practices.
