

Mid-Level Leader Training Modules

The Coalition for Compassionate Schools is excited to offer its second cohort of our hybrid trauma-informed training experience.

Overview

The virtual mid-level professional learning community is designed to support student services coordinators, culture deans, instructional coaches, MTSS coordinators, ELL coordinators and other mid-level leadership roles to build their trauma-informed practices strategies and toolkit.

By the end of the program, you will be able to:

1. Describe the impact of trauma on students' brain development, the ways in which teachers on their teams can make environmental changes to support brain-friendly learning, and how to support teachers who are building trauma-informed environments by being a champion.
2. Understand your role in building trauma-informed practices and systems into the school environment, including building personal and adaptive leadership skills and practicing collaborative teaming.
3. Determine appropriate strategies and practices aligned to your role at the Tier 1, Tier 2, and Tier 3 level to build systems and practices that support trauma-informed schools.
4. Develop a pilot plan to support your implementation of trauma-informed strategies in order to sustain their learning beyond the professional learning community.
